- 2) Kim Godden, the legislative chair for the IEMSA, updated the commission on House Bill 1385. Mrs. Godden stated that in October 2018 all fire service, private, nonprofit, hospital based ambulance service received a letter from anthem Blue Cross Blue Shield (now known as Eleva) that said, whether you're in network or out of network, you're going to be paid a certain rate, and that is what in essence created a balance bill to all the patients and through their association, had attempted to pass some legislation. Mrs. Godden stated initially, there was movement to move into a prohibition of balance billing, which brought the association together, and this was able to be stopped. After the pandemic, the association was able to pass some legislation requiring insurance providers to fairly negotiate. They developed nine criteria, those nine criteria that any insurance company would have to negotiate with the ambulance provider, look at what rate the labor rates are in the region, what are the service levels that are being provided, response times, Certain metrics to be, and to negotiate a fair reimbursement rate. At that time legislation passed and went into law, and none of the commercial providers adhered to the legislation and used any of the criteria to negotiate. She stated that the bill introduced this year will set the reimbursement rate to the set charges, whether that be your local community set charge or fire department, etc. this legislation says that the commercial that if we cannot meet and reach at fair negotiation, with the insurer, if the insurer does not want to negotiate your rate That can be agreed-upon, Then the insurer has to pay the set rate that is set by the local ordinance or 500% of the Medicare reimbursement rate on the bill. Mrs. Godden stated that this bill goes to committee the following Wednesday.

NEW BUSINESS

- 1) Director Kinney presented the current reciprocity requirements and processes. Director Kinney explains that reciprocity for EMS is the recognition of education or credentials from another jurisdiction. He further explains the national registry of EMTs, which is the national EMS certifications organization, which does two primary tasks that include initial certification, competency, testing, and a national certification or registration that includes renewal requirements, like continuing education. NREMT EMT certification means that one has demonstrated competency for their certification level, it does not Grant any privileges to use those skills as that is reserved to the states and a state issued certification is really a licensed to practice meaning that the state has authorized to utilize their EMS credentials and function in the profession. Director Kinney then explained the impact of reciprocity to the EMS compact and states that Indiana joined the EMS compact in 2020 with adoption of SEA61 that created IC 16–31.5, He is Indiana’s compact Commission designee and states that he is chairperson of the compact as well. The compact allows individuals to go state to state without obtaining multiple licenses and creates what is called a “Privilege to practice”, and this applies to member states on a temporary basis. Director Kinney noted that Indiana is landlocked, as the states surrounding do not in the compact at this time. The biggest utilizer of the compact appears to be air medical as they bring in providers to cover shifts, things of that nature, that in the past were More challenging, because they had to figure out how to become Indiana Certified or licensed. Director Kinney reviewed The Indiana MR, initial certification and reciprocity guidelines, Stating that To hold an EMR certification one must be 14 years of age or older, they must complete the commission, approved, EMR course, and successfully pass written and practical skills exam and for reciprocity, they must be 14 years of age or older, hold a valid certification from another state, or the NREMT, or be trained in military with equivalent training, or hold an Indiana physician’s license to practice, or successfully complete a course of study equivalent, to the Indiana EMR curriculum and successfully complete the EMR written and practical.

Director Kinney reported that The Indiana initial EMT certification one must be 18 years of age or older, must complete an EMT course based upon the Indiana EMT curriculum, and must successfully pass the EMT written and psychomotor Exam with note that the commission has approved the NREMT as Indiana’s EMT written exam and the commission has approved the Indiana psycho motor examination process as well. It is noted that all New EMT candidates are tested for minimum competency consistent with national standards. The Indiana reciprocity EMT certification Rule, states one must be 18 years of age or older, and have one of the following pathways: Hold a valid certification or license as an EMT from another state and successfully complete the Indiana written, and practical exams, Military reciprocity with equivalent training for the EMT curriculum and successfully complete the Indiana written, and practical exams, Be a physician with unlimited license to practice medicine in Indiana, and successfully complete the Indiana written and practical, Have completed the course equivalent to the EMT curriculum and successfully completes the written and Practical exams, Or hold a valid in our EMT registration and successfully complete the Indiana written and practical exam. Director Kinney posed the question, if one passes the initial competency, you can make an agreement to have a certification and do your continuing education. Should the commission make individuals retest If Indiana is recognizing other state offices, and recognizing the national registry, should we be making them take a written and practical exam? He noted that individuals can obtain a temporary certification if they hold a current valid EMT certification from another state while they obtain their formal reciprocity. Director Kinney reviewed the AEMT and Paramedic reciprocity and stated they are similar in nature to that of the previously reviewed certification levels.

Director Kinney stated that he'd like to streamline this as much as possible, but for all out of state reciprocity and national registries, he would like to see to see Indiana get rid of the written and practical exam and accept certifications and licensures from those outside entities. Director Kinney stated in order to do so, the commission would have to change those rules, as those are the rules, but They would be able to do a general waiver, for example, like one that is done at the primary instructor level, until those rules are written.

Chairperson Turpen Stated that he is in support of a rule rewrite as EMS Is one of the only portions of healthcare that require Additional examinations to practice outside of their original certification and or licensing state.

Commissioner Zartman also stated his support, but questioned if they are addendum to the basic EMT certification that must be done on Acadis Prior to becoming certified, such as POST. Director Kinney Confirmed this by stating that those education modules are considered part of the application process. Commissioner Zartman than asked if it would be automatic for someone that wanted an Indian certification or licensure, that is not actively working in the state of Indiana, but holds a certification and or license in another state or would it be a requirement that they have to be coming to Indiana to work for a provider? Director Kinney stated that it depends on the level of certification that the provider is seeking as EMT's are not required to be affiliated with a service provider, and in theory can just seek out an Indiana certification if they would like, but the Advanced EMT and paramedic do require a provider affiliation prior to certification or licensure.

Director Kinney stated that the options for the commission today would be to either advise them to do an initial waiver, and once in support, then he can draft a general waiver, and subject to an appeal it would apply to those applicants for reciprocity, or the commission can look into drafting a non-role policy, but that is unlikely as it is not in written form yet.

After further discussion with public participants in the audience It was determined that there was no urgency to make a decision on this subject, and it was recommended by commissioner Zartman that Director Kinney, and a few commissioners work together and propose some kind of document to present at the next commission meeting in March. Chairperson Turpen directed that Director Kinney would work with Commissioner Zartman, Commissioner Hoggatt, and Commissioner Mayle to develop a written non-rule policy for consideration at the next meeting.

- 2) Dr. Yazel stated that at the last commission meeting, he had discussed the scope of practice and put together an FAQ list, and after that meeting, he felt there was an issue that should be clarified further on the scope of practice. He recounted that Commission had approved intranasal glucagon but at the last meeting There was mention of glucagon auto injector. After further discussion, not only around, but throughout the United States, these auto injectors have proven to be prohibitive as they tend to cost Approximately $600 for a dose. Dr. Yazel Stated that to approve the use of an auto injector. There would need to be a formal motion and vote to add that to the scope of practice and with that would the commission also want to consider allowing a draw up method for IM Glucagon injections as well. He stated that the drawn-up method is more effective when discussing cost alone. After some discussion it was determined that Dr. Yazel will look into this topic more and present a one-page summary of his findings to the commission for continued discussion at a future meeting.
