

Cost Assumptions, Conditions and Constraints

When determining rates we closely examine the specific needs and uses of each customer in an effort to address the unique aspects of its travel patterns. Supplier status, top rental cities, insurance/damage waiver requirements, length of rental, and desired car classes are all important factors.

The end result is a very competitive pricing model, which in conjunction with industry leading services allows Enterprise and National to meet our customer expectations with real value.

Please also note that pricing is also reflective of the current vehicle shortage.
